CAS Religion, Peace & Conflict

What is the significance of religion in peacebuilding around the world? Reflect on the potential religions have for building peace and driving conflict.

- Learn about concrete methods of conflict analysis and discuss which roles religiously motivated actors play in conflict contexts;
- Get an overview of key terms and concepts regarding religion and explore ways in which religions can drive conflict and promote peace;
- Study conflicts with a religious dimension through case studies and learn about different peacebuilding approaches to transform these conflicts;
- Unpack contested notions such as “radicalization” and “extremism”;
- Exchange experiences and become part of a community of practice.

Date & Location: September 2021 - October 2022, Basel, Switzerland

Registration deadline: 30 August 2021
